

Liquid Paper History?

Reflecting on Christian Heritage in our Nation's History

Conjoint Associate Professor Stuart Piggin's recently launched book, "The Fountain of Public Prosperity", asks whether our history is being re-written, and the role of Christianity perhaps being liquid papered over by a more secular society? The book is available for purchase at this event.

Dr Piggin was Director of the Centre for the History of Christian Thought and Experience at Macquarie University (2005–16) and Head of the Department of Christian Thought of the Australian College of Theology. He is a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society and of the Religious History Association of Australia and was the foundation President of the Evangelical History Association of Australia. He lectured in Religious History in the Universities of Wollongong and Sydney 1974–1990 and was Master of Robert Menzies College at Macquarie University, 1990–2004. He has written over 100 articles for academic journals and seven books.
